RELIGIOUS, Fully 86 per cent of the Presbyterian ministers of the United States receive less than $2.600 a year, as shown by the statis-tics of the clerk of the general assembly. Right Rev. Thomas Fielding Scott, the first bishop of the Episcopal church in Cregon, was elected to that office in 1853. The semi-centennial of his consecgation will occur in Portland, January 8 next.

The British and Foreign Bible society, which in a few months completes a century of work, has lessed no fewer than 180,000,000 copies of the scriptures, which are now printed in nearly 800 different languages. Rev. E. S. Ufford, author of "Throw Out the Life Line," has completed his evan-gelistic tour around the world. He has raveled 25,000 miles and preached in churches, missions and sailors' institutes. He intends soon to engage in gospel work in New England.

The Catholic diocese of Brooklyn, N. Y., has just finished a week's calebration of its golden jubiless. The Catholic population of the diocese is 500,000. Brooklyn has now its second blahop, Right Rev. Charles E. McDonnell, D. D., it first bishop, Right Rev. John Loughlin, D. Pather P. J. Lynch, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Gainosville, Fla., is endeavoring to divert Irish immigration to the south. He has about 1,000 acres of fine farming land in Alachua county, Florida, and wants to settle it with a colony of immigrants from the Green Isle. He does not want any but people who understand farming, and he hopes that in a few months all the land will be taken. Father Lynch is a well-known citizen of Florida.

Right Rev. George Kinsolving, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Texas, is a giant in stature. On one occasion he was in Philadelphia when a wild west show happened to be in town. He was swinging along the street one afternoon when he stopped to buy a newspaper. The newsboy looked at the massive figure, surmounted by a big slouch hat, and said: "Say, mister, are you Texas Bill?" "No. my boy, I'm not," was the bishop's laughing reply. "I'm Texas George."

The Christian Endeaver union of Baltimore, Md., has already begun preparations for the national convention of the Christian Endeaver society to be held in that city in 1905. W. O. It will be necessary to take between $15,000 and $45,000 for the work of preparation.

CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Demand for Seasonable Goods Showed Much Improvement Last Week.

VERY FEW CHANGES IN RULING PRICE

Shipping Points Failed to Weaken the Market and Jobbers Sure

Prices Will Hold Firm. There was a decided improvement last week in the demand for all kinds of seasonable goods. The cooler weather, of course, is credited with having brought about the change. Retailers felt the effects first and it took but a few days of brisk trade to make a hele in shelr stocks and then who'esalers began to get filling-in orders. Merchants who have been in the city this week say that they are more con ident than ever of a brisk trade throughout indent than ever of a brisk trade throughout the winter. A couple weeks ago some of them began to think that possibly they had bought too freely, but now they find they did not overreach themselves in the least, but in most cases win have to place dupacate orders in many Jues.

Advance orders are coming in quite freely and with few exceptions jobbers report heavier sales than they had made a year ago up to this time. There seems to be no doubt but what traveling men will be able to go ahead of last year's record the remainder of the season.

able to ge ahead of last year's record the remainder of the season.

There have not been many market changes during the week under review, and those that have taken effect have not been of a startling nature. With very few exceptions prices seem to be on as firm a good deal of confidence that merchants need have no fear of carrying liberal stocks, not only for winter, but for next spring as well. well.

Collections have improved considerably during the last few days, and now that trade has picked up in the country jobbers believe that merchants will meet their future obligations with their usual prompt-

Coffee Still Advancing.

The coffee market is still advancing under The coffee market is still advancing under the influence of unfavorable reports regarding the size and quality of the new crop. As compared with a week ago the market is now about harmonic higher, and those best posted would not be surprised to see still higher prices at no distant date.

The sugar market is in practically the same position it was a week ago both as regards taws and refined grades. The demand is very good for this season of the year.

gards laws and refined grades. The demand is very good for this season of the year.

The general impression seems to be that syrups have reached the low point and that any further changes will be in the nature of an advance. The demand is reported exceedingly heavy at present, prices showing that the trade is anticipating future wants.

Oatmeal is about 10c higher on bulk goods than a week ago and five-pound and smaller packages have shown a corresponding advance. Indications are considered favorable for still higher prices.

The fean market has eased off again, present prices being 5610c per bushel lower than those in force a week ago.

The demand for canned goods is reported very heavy all along the line, including eastern as well as California goods. The only possible exception is found in the case of corn, which is being bought in small quantities to supply the immediate requirements of the purchasers.

Dried fruits are selling the same as they were a week ago, with the demand as active as could reasonably be expected.

As mentioned a week ago the rice market is in a stronger position than it has been at any time since the new crop was offered.

to be cornered prices are based strickly on supply and demand, and therefore is not speculative. That being the case, wholesalers are very consident that there can be no reduction in the price of manufactured goods for many months to come, while a great many lines may be advanced. They are advising merchants for that reason to anticipate their spring requirements as much as possible and in that way take advantage of present pilces.

Trace with local houses is reported as being only fair at the present time. More sorting-up orders were received ass week than the week before and, with faborable weather from this time on, still more improvement is looked for in the stature. A-vance business is coming along its very provement is looked for in the inture. A-vance business is coming along it very satisfactory manner and on most lines sales are heavier than they were a year ago at this time.

There have been no quotable thanges in the price of manufactured goods during the week under review. The general market, though, is very firm, and the fact is noted that four-yard brown goods are held at prices ranging 1484 cents higher than they were thirty days ago.

Better Demand for Hardware. There was a better demand for hardware last week than for some time past. All such lines as coal scuttles, stopepipe and boards, elbows and all kinds of cold weather goods sold to good advantage. Owing to the lack of cold weather that class of goods have been rather neglected up to this time, but it looks now as though the demand would be fully up to expectate tions from now on. All staple lines are also sciling freely, so that the trade as a whole is in very satisfactory condition. The market is practically the same as it was a week ago. What few changes have gone into effect have been of minor importance and not worth mentioning. As noted a week ago, however, there are several soft spots in the hardware market, and while there is no reason for looking for any great reductions there is unloubtedly some tendency to shade prices on a number of lines. There was a better demand for hardware

Immediate Business Very Good.

Leather goods jobbers report immediate business as being very good. They say that every year merchants show more and more of a disposition not to anticipate their wants, but simply to buy as their needs dictate. One reason for this is that the Omaha market has been greatly improved of late, and as a result merchants know they can get on short order whatever they need, and do not have to place their orders in the east and take chances on the slow movement of freight. The advantage in this to the retailer is that he keeps his stocks down where they belong and does not buy more stock than he can sell. It also gives him a chance to discount all his bills, which he might not be able to do if he bought far in advance.

In spite of the fact, though, that merchants are inclined to buy as they need, jobbers say that orders for spring lines are coming in very freely and most houses report an increase over last year's sales.

To the surprise of jobbers quite a few rubber orders are coming in. The general impression was that every merchant bought before the advange went into effect last June, but now it is found that quite a few preferred to wait and place their order when they needed the goods.
